"Well, what did you do in the country?" asked the reporter of a bright little girl named Emma Dewey.
"It would take me till summer to tell you," she replied. you," she replied.
"What did you like best?" was asked.
"Oh, I liked the house, 'cause it was yellow—an' I had four little kittens, all my own. Yes, sir, I milked the cow in a big bucket and had lots of milk to drink. "I had custard pie," and "I had custard

NELLIE COMES TO HIS RESCUE. Little Nellie, his sister, told Rudolph that she would tell him all about it, and teachers is called to the September number of the Review, which is now ready. The Review is a monthly publication unequaled as suplementary reading in the schools and of inestimable value to both pupils and it was time to go again, and since their return they have had great times comparing the Sunday school picnic was to them a great pleasure.

Mrs. Rose said that with 50 or more little ones together, she could not give all the attention and caresses, which seem as necessary to children as water to growing plants. If she paid a little more attention to one than another there was a strike right off. While in the country they are petted and their little wants and desires looked after by kind people, and once a year they teel something of the influences of maternal love, such as it is impossible to give them

WANTED—ALL BARBERS TO KNOW THAT
We are not any benefit to our competitor.
We do not have papers print for us false statements. We don't try to injure our competitor.
We are not proprietors of any barber shops, but we have furnished the finest barber shop in Western Pennsylvanis. All barbers know that we manufacture all first-class goods. We don't have others make goods for us with our name on. Who supplied the 5 cent shops before we came to this city? Who started the 5 cent shop at corner of Wyle and Federal streets, Pittsburg? We do not ask our workmen if they belong to the union, but pay union wages, which others have one man doing the work of six and only nay boy's wages. Now who has seab labor? We don't claim that we are any length of time at present location, but we do claim to be successors to the oldest barber supply house in Western Pennsylvania, formerly 80 Diamond street. Surely two in the same line of business could not occupy the one number. Now we hope that sil barbers will look into this matter. We expect our competitor to advertise and try to impose on our customers with all his falsehoods, which we hope will not be recognized as a business way. This we answer to prove that we are doing only a strictly honest business, and it is for the last time that we answer to our protection. Beware of falsehoods and remember the only honest and leading manufacturers and dealers in barbers supplies and furniture in Western Fennsylvania. A. EDLIN & CO., seccessors to S.
